

Year 2 Summer Term

Seal Project (Social and Emotional Aspects of Learning)

The theme this term is 'Getting on and falling out'.
In assemblies and Circle Times the children will be thinking about and discussing the value of working together and recognising how we are all different.

A website we find useful in school is

www.bbc.uk/schools

There are lots of activities to support our learning that you may wish to access.

Seaside Holidays, now and in the past

Name

English

We will be using stories from the famous author Jill Murphy to help develop our own writing skills. Through poetry we are investigating ways in which we can have fun with language e.g. tongue twisters. We will use fiction and non-fiction texts and cd-roms to gather information and as always be practising our phonic skills and developing a neat handwriting script.

Maths

We will be using numbers up to and beyond 100 in addition, subtraction, multiplication and division. We will also be practising our 2, 5 and 10 times tables. We are learning to measure accurately using standard measures and to read a scale. As always we will use our knowledge of numbers and measure to solve one and two step word problems.

Science

Our theme is 'Plants and Animals in the Local Environment'. We shall be learn through observations that there are many different living things around us and be able to name and describe some of them.

R.E.

We will be considering the importance of prayers, poems and promises in some people's lives and finding out what a place of worship looks like and what happens in one.

Seaside holidays now and in the past.

To help us compare Drifffield with the seaside we will visit Sewerby Hall near Bridlington. We will find out what people do on seaside holidays today and how it is similar or different to holidays in the past. If you have any holiday souvenirs or photographs, old or new we would be interested to see them. If you have any memories of seaside holidays when you were young please tell us about them.
