Dear Parents and Carers

As you will be aware there has recently been a lot of media attention around online safety. I would like to reassure you all that online safety is paramount to us all and we continuously ensure our pupils know how to keep themselves safe whilst on online, using technology and devices, and know what they should do if they worried about anything. In school we also have strict filtering systems in place which blocks any inappropriate content on all our devices.

Last term all families received our 'Online Safety Guide for Children' which outlines our online safety code, which is used in school and should be reinforced at home. We have also received some additional information for parents/carers which gives advice about discussing online safety with your child and also steps that can be taken to monitor what your child is watching online. This is detailed on the reverse of this letter.

I urge everyone to remember the importance of supervising children at all times when online and using any electronic devices, ensure parental controls are in place and that children only access age appropriate games (this is stated on packaging in the same way as DVDs).

Thank you for your continued support and if you have any further questions please do not hesitate to contact us.

Yours sincerely

Mrs Sam Woolhouse

Online Safety - Have a conversation

A simple and effective way to get involved with your children and their lives online is through discussion. By maintaining an open dialogue with your child and encouraging them to talk to you about their internet use parents can help children access the amazing resources the internet has to offer whilst keeping them safe online.

Conversation starter ideas:

1. Ask your children to tell you about the sites they like to visit and what they enjoy doing online.
2. Ask them about how they stay safe online. What tips do they have for you, and where did they learn them? What is OK and not OK to share?
3. Ask them if they know where to go for help, where to find the safety advice, privacy settings and how to report or block on the services they use.
4. Encourage them to help. Perhaps they can show you how to do something better online or they might have a friend who would benefit from their help and support.
5. Think about how you use the internet as a family. What could you do to get more out of the internet together and further enjoy your lives online?

How to check what your child is watching

- Check the browser history on their phone/computer/tablet. Pressing Ctrl+H while the browser is open will bring up the history.
- Windows PC: If you create an account for a child you will get the option to enable Family Safety settings. This allows you to block certain sites and get weekly reports of activity.
- Apple Mac: You can share screens even if your child is on a different Mac computer/tablet. If you log on as an administrator on your child's Mac you can select sharing preferences and choose Screen Sharing, before clicking on Allow Access For and adding yourself as an admin. On your own Mac, click on network to see your child's activity.
